

Nikon Eclipse with cooled CCD and RGB camera

A universal microscope. The cooled CCD allows you to capture very weak fluorescent signals and the RGB collects high resolution images in transmitted light.

- for fixed or live samples. Fixed samples give better results
- Equipped with Epifluorescence and transmitted light
- Different contrast methods (Differential interference contrast, Polarisation) enable better resolution of small subcellular structures
- Highest magnification 1000x

