Examinations

If you have any elements with a referral code ending E1 you must sit an examination for that module. Examinations will take place during the week commencing 07 January 2019 and the timetable at www.plymouth.ac.uk/services/exams will list the venue, time and date of each examination. If you have modified examination provision your timetable will differ and details will instead be e-mailed to your University e-mail address. Before sitting your examination it is extremely important that you familiarise yourself with information at the above website.
