Key Note Speaker – Biographical Sketch
Roland Jones ‘Beartracks’

‘Roly’ as he is affectionately known has been involved in instructing the Armed Forces in Survival Skills for over thirty years, working in temperate forests, arctic, deserts and jungles. He ran survival courses for The Royal Marines Commandos. Over the last twenty years he has been involved in teaching bush craft and outdoor skills to groups such as private fostering companies, junior and secondary school children. Organising and being involved in outreach work with troubled young people, working with The Princes Trust in running team building courses in the woods, incorporating the National Curriculum. He is a qualified teacher trained in woodwork and metalwork, qualified in blacksmithing and timber engineering. He is also trained in boat building. Roly uses all of these skills in his day to day work, including running team building courses for former service men suffering from PTSD.
