1. Aims

The University of Plymouth Student Recruitment & Admissions team aim to engage, guide and enable students through the Admissions process with The University of Plymouth

To achieve this, the University will:

- Empower, coach and develop its staff to provide excellent service to all service users
- Provide professional, expert advice and guidance to all enquirers, applicants and stakeholders
- Collaborate professionally and respectfully with all users of the Admissions service.

2. Principles

The University of Plymouth will achieve these aims by:

- Being committed to recognizing the academic and other relevant achievements and experiences of each applicant
- Welcoming applications from motivated candidates from all backgrounds
- Being committed to promoting equal opportunities for all applicants and students from the UK, EU and overseas
- Treating all applicants fairly, consistently and expeditiously
- Clearly identifying and communicating the entry requirements for each programme.
- Selecting applicants for entry on the basis of a range of criteria including; academic, professional, experiential and personal experience
- Complying with appropriate legislation and all University of Plymouth policies.
- The University may receive more applications than it has places for and hence reserves the right to make informed admissions decisions based on a wide field of information including academic profile in collaboration with other relevant achievements'

3. Framework

The University of Plymouth has in place a set of policies, processes and procedures which provide the framework for those staff with responsibility for University admissions. This policy applies to both undergraduate and postgraduate taught admissions, of both a full and part-time nature.

This policy does not cover the Medicine and Dentistry programmes of the Faculty of Health: Medicine, Dentistry and Human Sciences, or Postgraduate Research Programmes which have their own admissions policy nor does it cover the admissions policies of our partner colleges through Academic Partnerships or courses administered by our Professional Development Unit.

4. Responsibilities

Responsibility for the University of Plymouth Admissions Policy lies with Student Recruitment and Admissions.

4.1. Central Admissions

The central admissions service is responsible for:

- The receipt and assessment of all applications excluding PGR, Exchange, CPD, Higher Degree Apprentices and Medicine and Dentistry applications
- Fee assessment of applications received by Central Admissions
- Ensuring the policy and procedures are reviewed and communicated to potential students, advisors, guiders, parents, carers and staff members
- Administering cross institutional criminal convictions review panels (exceptionally & where appropriate)
- Providing applicant feedback upon request to unsuccessful applicants upon request to a reasonable level
- Continuous Staff training and development
- Corporate UCAS correspondence and maintaining the UCAS database
- The business process and continuous improvement of the University Admissions Service
- Annual review and publishing of the Admissions policy

4.2. Faculty responsibility

The faculties and schools are responsible for:

- Appointing Admissions Tutors for programmes
- Setting of the academic entry requirements/tariff
- Effectively implementing the policy and procedures in accordance with the standards laid down in the policy
- Making decisions on applicants in accordance with the policy
- Responding to applicant feedback in accordance with the policy
- Interviewing candidates in accordance with mandatory and chosen interviews
- Policy and procedure review and recommendations
- Making final academic decisions on all borderline applications for programmes

5. Relevant legislation

The University operates within the boundaries of current legislation including UCAS and UKVI regulations and the QAA Code of Practice on Admissions to Higher Education.

6. Good practice and professionalism

The University is committed to a professional admissions process. It adopts the good practice principles advocated by the UCAS Good Practice in Admissions Guide.

University staff involved with the admissions process are appropriately and continuously trained and supported in their work.

University admissions staff attend and support training and development opportunities with UCAS, UKCISA, awarding bodies.

7. Data Protection

All application information is held in strict accordance with the Data Protection Act and in compliance with GDPR regulations and remains confidential between the applicant and the University.

This also means that our communications as a university will be with the applicant, and not a third party, unless we receive instruction from the applicant to the contrary.

8. Information for applicants and entry requirements

The University is committed to providing applicants with appropriate and timely information to support their decision making and application including the entry requirements on an annual basis. This information is presented online at www.plymouth.ac.uk/courses

Additional applicant information is provided through our applicant webpages, (www.plymouth.ac.uk/applicant), face-to-face and in paper-based communications such as the prospectus or course literature.

The University supports the online UCAS entry profiles and provides additional information through this medium.

The University supports Unistats and provides information for this facility.

9. Application considerations

9.1. UCAS Similarity detection and suspected fraud

The University uses the UCAS similarity detection system to identify any instances of plagiarism or fraud. If this is suspected, the University will take action under its own Fraudulent Applications policy.

Offers of a place are conditional upon the information supplied to the University. False statements or omissions of relevant information may lead to the withdrawal of an offer or a place.

9.2. Relevant criminal convictions

In accordance with our principles, the University of Plymouth provides a fair and transparent decision making process for all applications, including applicants declaring a criminal conviction. Applications are subjected to the standard admissions procedures, and if it is decided to make an offer, additional steps are taken to liaise with the applicant and establish the nature of the offence, and any other action required, which may include review of supplied information by a cross institutional review panel.

For some programmes disclosure is required by law, particularly for programmes in health and related areas, social work, teaching or working with children.

The University of Plymouth will follow the procedures outlined by the Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA) and the Disclosure and Barring service (DBS) in respect of the application. The DBS can be applied for on line via GBG. The decision to make an offer rests with the relevant faculty.

9.3. Disability

The University welcomes applications from prospective students with disabilities who are subject to standard academic/admission procedures. Prospective students may receive an offer to study at the University on academic merit alone but sometimes further assessments relating to the clarification of any required reasonable adjustments or support may be required.

The University makes some adjustments in anticipation of the support requirements of students with disabilities, however, to ensure that the University can provide any individual support required some students may be invited to attend an information meeting, in collaboration with Disability Services (DS).

For a small number of prospective students the University may reluctantly conclude that the adjustments needed cannot reasonably be made. In cases where adequate support cannot be provided or reasonable adjustments made and therefore health and safety concerns, or the ability to meet professional regulatory requirements such as Fitness to Practise or Competency standards, cannot be overcome, the University reserves the right to withdraw any offer and the prospective student will be notified immediately. In these circumstances, and where appropriate, the University may be able to assist the prospective student to find an alternative programme.

Prospective students are encouraged to disclose any disability and other relevant information at an early stage in the application process to ensure that there is adequate time for the University to consider reasonable adjustments, including accommodation requirements, as these are more straightforward to implement early in the application process. Failure to do so may result in the inability of the University to implement the necessary reasonable adjustments required for individual cases and where this occurs the University reserves the right to withdraw any offer.

Prospective students can contact the Disability Services team on +44 (1752) 587676 or email: ds@plymouth.ac.uk

9.4. In care/looked after children

The University welcomes applications from applicants who identify themselves as currently in, or have been in Local Authority care. Applicants will be subject to standard selection procedures but will be offered support from the Care Leavers team within Student Services to support their transition into Higher Education.

The UCAS definition of being in care is defined as a continuous period of greater than three months.

9.5. Minors (Under 18s)

The University of Plymouth welcomes applications from minors admitted as students. If the University of Plymouth offers a place to an applicant who is under the age of 18 it is because the University believes that this individual has the ability, potential and intellect to successfully complete the programme offered.

The University does not expect to act 'in loco parentis' and the applicant will need to provide details of their guardian who is living in the UK. Minors are subject to any legal age restrictions.

Overseas minors are legally required, under the rules of the UKVI, to provide a letter of consent from the parent/legal guardian, consenting to the arrangements with regard to travel, arrival and accommodation.

9.6. Non-traditional learners and returners to study

The University of Plymouth has a long tradition of admitting students who are returning to study, and we do not set an upper age limit. We welcome the admission of non-traditional learners to the University community and the diverse range of skills and experiences that they bring with them.

The University will consider entry based on any previous experience under our APL (Accreditation of Prior Learning) or APEL (Accreditation of Experiential Learning) policy.

9.7. Fitness to practice, fitness to teach and occupational health assessment

For a number of health and education programmes, applicants are required to complete a medical questionnaire. An offer of a place is conditional upon a satisfactory state of health. There is a requirement, for candidates applying to these programmes to pass a fitness to practice assessment. Details of the procedure can be found here: Fitness to Practice/Teach

9.8. International applicants and English Language

It is the University's requirement that an applicant whose first language is not English completes a University approved test in English language.

Other applicants whose first language is English will also be required to demonstrate English language proficiency. The University is seeking proficiency in accordance with the qualifications listed below in the guidance table:

Language Entry requirements

Applicants are advised to check carefully the entry requirements for each programme online or in the prospectus. There are notable exceptions to the guidance as follows:

Applicants for majority of programmes within the Faculty of Health; Medicine, Dentistry and Human Science will be expected to meet an IELTS standard of 7.0.

9.9. Extenuating, mitigating or medical circumstances

The University takes into account extenuating, mitigating and medical circumstances that are brought to the University's attention during the application process up until enrolment. A supporting statement from the academic referee and direct communication from a senior staff member or official from a school/college or local community in support of an applicant's circumstances is welcomed.

9.10. Complaints and Appeals

9.10.1. Complaints

Each application is processed in a fair and transparent way. If an applicant believes that, in the processing of its application, the actions of the University have fallen below the standard expected then an applicant may make a complaint. A complaint relates to the operation of the University's application process and/or its outcome, or the actions or behaviour of a member of staff involved in the admissions process.

Should an applicant wish to make a complaint/grievance, they are advised to put their complaint in writing to the Head of Student Recruitment and Admissions who will acknowledge the complaint, investigate and respond on behalf of the University. Under normal circumstances, applicants should expect to have a response within 15 working days of receipt of the letter.

If, having received a response, the applicant is still dissatisfied, then the query will be reviewed again by the Head of Student Recruitment and Admissions in conjunction with the Student Support and Conduct Manager

9.10.2. Appeals

Each application is considered in accordance with our principles and offers are made based on the information provided on the application form, the number of places available and the entry requirements. If an applicant believes that, in its consideration of their application, the actions of the University have fallen below the standard expected then an applicant may make an appeal.

An appeal should relate to the process of decision making rather than the decision itself which is a question of academic judgment. There is no automatic right of appeal against a decision on whether or not to offer a place.

Should an applicant wish to appeal, they are advised to put their concerns in writing to the Head of Student Recruitment and Admissions who will acknowledge the appeal, investigate and respond on behalf of the University. Under normal circumstances, applicants should expect to have a response within 15 working days of receipt of the letter.

The University of Plymouth reserves the right to exclude an applicant who is considered on justifiable grounds to be unsuitable for a place on a particular programme according to individual circumstances.

9.11. Interviews

The University of Plymouth only requires applicants to be interviewed for a clearly defined set of programmes. Interviews provide an opportunity for an applicant to demonstrate their skills and abilities, and interest in studying with Plymouth, and are not tests.

All Medicine and Dentistry applicants will be interviewed.

In these instances, interview requirements will be clearly stated in the University of Plymouth prospectus, UCAS entry profiles and on the website. Some frequent examples where an interview may be required are listed as follows:

- Suitable applicants for Health & Human Sciences programmes may be required to attend an interview as part of the selection process
- Suitable applicants for Initial Teaching Education and PGCE programmes will be required to attend an interview as part of the selection process
- Suitable applicants to Faculty of Arts & Humanities programmes such as Dance Theatre and Acting may be required to attend an audition as part of the selection process
- Suitable applicants to Faculty of Arts programmes such as Fine Art, Architecture, 3D Design, Photography, Illustration, Graphic Communication, may be required to submit a portfolio as part of the selection process and attend an interview.

Please refer to the website for an up-to-date list of those programmes requiring applicants to attend for an interview/audition, or submit a portfolio. There will be a clear structure for each interview or other selection criteria, and these will be conducted against pre-determined criteria. Applicants should expect to obtain a decision within 14 days of the date of the interview.

The interview and decision-making will be consistent with the University's policy on equal opportunities. However, if they have not already done so, applicants are encouraged to disclose any disability to the University, to help ensure that any necessary adjustments can be planned to support their studies.

Applicants are advised to check the details of the interview programme and their correspondence carefully, as applicants may be required to bring documentation with them to their interview.

Following an interview, successful applicants will be notified of their status via UCAS Track, email and University of Plymouth offer pack.

9.12 Auditions

The selection process for some programmes may require additional stages such as auditions or portfolios. Applicants will be invited to interview by the Admissions team. Further details can be found on the programme pages of the website.

9.13 Portfolios

Interviews and/or portfolios are a requirement for some Faculty of Arts programmes.

Applicants are required to submit a portfolio as part of the selection process and attend an interview. Further details can be found on the programme pages of the website.

Unsuccessful candidates can request feedback, and should put this request in writing/email, to the Admissions Office.

The portfolio assessment and interview will be consistent with the University's policy on equal opportunities. However, if they have not already done so, applicants are encouraged to disclose any disability to the University, to help ensure that any necessary adjustments can be planned to support their studies.

Portfolio advice is available on the website or the course pages. Applicants are advised to check the details of their programme and their correspondence carefully, as applicants may be required to bring documentation with them to their interview.

Following assessment, applicants will be notified of their status via UCAS Track email and their University of Plymouth offer pack if an offer is made.

9.14 Admissions tests

It is not the University of Plymouth's standard policy to use admissions tests as part of its selection process. However applicants applying for some programmes within the Faculty of Health; Medicine, Dentistry and Human Science who do not hold a GCSE qualification or equivalent in English or Maths will be required to pass a GCSE equivalency test.

9.15 Applicant feedback

The University is committed to providing appropriate feedback to an applicant upon written request only. The request for feedback must be received within 28 days of the University's decision. Feedback will be provided via email direct to the applicant within 10 working days of the request.

If an applicant wishes to make a complaint or request a review of an admissions decision after they have received feedback, this must be directed to the Head of Student Recruitment and Admissions in the first instance. (See complaints/grievances).

10. Entry Requirements and qualifications

Entry requirements will be published on the University website, the UCAS website and in the University's prospectus. As the prospectus goes to print more than a year prior to entry to a course, applicants are advised to always check online via both the UCAS Entry Profiles and the University's website.

The University of Plymouth will make available entry requirements for all its academic courses. All admissions decisions will be made against detailed criteria which will specify:

- Typical academic entry requirements
- Relevant experience and/or other qualities.

The University's minimum entry requirements are intended to:

- Ensure that applicants are appropriately prepared for study in higher education
- Draw attention to the diversity of qualifications that can prepare applicants for higher education
- Support Admissions Tutors in recruiting suitably prepared students

10.1 General Requirements

Applicants should normally be able to demonstrate a level of literacy and numeracy appropriate to the course which they are undertaking. The admissions process will identify whether an applicant meets this requirement. For an applicant from the United Kingdom, appropriate minimum entry qualifications might be one or more of the following:

- GCSE English; at grade C / 4 or above **
- GCSE Mathematics; at grade C / 4 or above, (this is not necessarily a requirement for all courses; refer to entry requirements before submitting an application).

 Please be aware that GCSEs in England have been reformed. The reforms, which have been phased in include the introduction of revised subjects and a numeric grading system, which will replace previous A*–G grades.

The numeric scale comprises grades of 9 to 1, where 9 is the highest and 1 is the lowest grade. Guidance from Ofqual indicates that a grade 4 will be broadly comparable to the previous GCSE grade C, and therefore more differentiation will be offered at the higher levels of ability by the new numeric structure.

The University of Plymouth will continue to review the GCSE requirements in light of the reforms, and the greater differentiation offered by the new grading system. At this stage, a grade 4 or above in English Language GCSE completed in England will be required.

For GCSE English completed outside England a grade C will still be required.

10.2 Degree courses

Applicants should normally:

- Possess, at least, 2 GCE A levels or for some programmes, 2 GCE A level and 1 GCE AS levels; or equivalent
- Have been awarded an Access to Higher Education Diploma from a recognised course; or, at an appropriate equivalent level.
- Possess an International Baccalaureate Diploma; or,
- Possess a Diploma in Foundation Studies (Art and Design) or a qualification from a recognised Foundation Course; or,
- Possess a Specialised Diploma; or,
- Possess vocational qualifications at level 3 of the National Qualifications Framework (NQF).

Applicants are advised to check the entry qualifications online, before submitting an application.

10.3 Foundation Year Programmes

The purpose of the year zero/foundation year is to facilitate entry to a degree programme. Study is designed to prepare candidates for a relevant degree programme building on their existing level 3 achievement. Progression to Level 4 (first year) of the degree programme is dependent on successful completion of the preparatory years. Applicants are selected on the basis of:

- Those who possess GCE A levels or equivalents
- Mature students, who can demonstrate appropriate life or work experience and can provide evidence of literacy/communication skills at a level that demonstrates their ability to progress.

11. The qualifications range

The University welcomes a wide range of qualifications and the following statements are in recognition of significant changes or are newly introduced qualifications.

11.1 A levels

The University welcomes applicants with A levels. There may be instances where academic departments may have to take into account the A* grade to distinguish between two applicants of equal standing, but academic offers will not be expressed as requiring achievement at A*.

11.2 Extended Project

The University recognises the value of the skills gained by completing this qualification and welcomes applications from those taking the Extended Project.

However the Extended Project does not form part the University's standard entry requirements, and any offer made, is likely to request additional qualifications e.g. A levels.

11.3 Cambridge Pre U

The University welcomes applications from those completing the Cambridge Pre U Diploma. Applicants are required to have taken three subjects overall or a mix of Pre U Principle subjects and A-Levels.

11.4 IB Certificates

The University recognises that for personal reasons some students may not be able to take the full IB Diploma and opt to study for individual IB 'subject' certificates only. It is the University's policy to require the full Diploma for entry however we will consider each application on its individual circumstances.

11.5 Access to Higher Education Diploma

The University welcomes applicants who are taking the Access to Higher Education Diploma qualification. Admissions tutors in schools will try to make an offer based on the information provided on the application form, and any prior academic achievement. If there is insufficient information on the application form on which to make an admissions decision and further information may be required eg an up to date reference.

11.6 Vocational qualifications

A vocational qualification is a qualification relating to a particular line of work or specific job, career or profession, with an emphasis on the assessment of practical skills and knowledge¹. Examples include National Vocational Qualifications (NVQs), BTECs, and City & Guilds.

Recognising that not all learners enter Higher Education straight from school/college, the University welcomes applications from applicants with vocational qualifications.

The University of Plymouth website has detailed entry requirements which indicate the acceptance of a wide range of vocational qualifications.

11.7 Other British qualifications

The University welcomes applications from applicants possessing: Scottish Highers, Advanced Highers, Irish Leaving Certificate and the Welsh Baccalaureate, Certificate of Personal Effectiveness (CoPE) and Key Skills.

The University recognises the value of these qualifications and will consider it as part of the applicant's overall profile. Offers will not normally be made conditional on achievement of CoPE and/or Key Skills.

11.8 International Qualifications

The University of Plymouth has students from the UK, Europe and from Overseas, and has experience in considering a wide range of international qualifications for admission. A detailed list of acceptable international qualifications and the typical levels of achievement required by country can be found on the University website:

Country Guide

The University will also consider applicants who have successfully completed a satisfactory international foundation programme through the Plymouth University International College (PUIC).

The university has a number of agreed routes and partnerships managed by the Academic Partnerships department. A full list of all partnerships can be requested by emailing: admissions@plymouth.ac.uk National Academic Recognition Information Centre \(NARIC\) equivalences are followed for international qualifications except where the University has explicitly established the acceptability of a particular qualification. University staff are trained to reference the NARIC guide as required, to interpret applicant's qualifications the Admissions Office holds Level 6 membership.

11.9. Equivalence

The <https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/qualifications-and-credit-framework-requirements> determines the equivalence of British qualifications.

11.10 Verification of qualifications

The University of Plymouth requires that all applicants provide evidence of the qualifications upon which their offer of a place has been made. An offer remains conditional until all academic and non-academic conditions are met. For the majority of UCAS applicants, UCAS supplies the results from the award bodies directly to institutions over the summer.

Other applicants should expect to provide original certification or certified copies of original certificates, prior to enrolment. Such examples would include GCSEs, Access and international qualifications plus non-academic conditions including DBS checks and Occupational Health questionnaires. Applicants are advised to provide this documentation as soon as is practicable, in order to prevent delays in the admissions process.

12. Postgraduate entry

For entry to postgraduate level, programmes have varied entry requirements including in some cases relevant experience. A typical requirement would require applicants to possess:

- a first or upper second (2:1) degree with honours or professional qualification, recognised as being equivalent to degree standard; or
- an ordinary degree, foundation degree, higher national diploma, or university diploma, accompanied by substantial experience in an appropriate field.

12.1. Postgraduate Taught Admissions

Applications for postgraduate taught and professional programmes should be made directly to the Home/EU Admissions team for Home/EU Applicants and to the International Admissions Team for International Applicants.

For Postgraduate Taught programmes, applicants are normally expected to have a degree in a discipline appropriate to the subject or nature of the programme for which they are applying. However, in exceptional circumstances, previous work experience and/or professional qualifications may be acceptable for some programmes subject to approval by the relevant faculty.

In the case of professional programmes, admission may be based on relevant work experience rather than formal academic qualifications depending on the programme concerned.

12.2. Postgraduate Research Admissions

Applications for postgraduate research programmes should be made direct to the Graduate School at the University. Please refer to specific Admissions Policy for Postgraduate Research Programmes (add link) A research programme may commence on 1st October, 1st January or 1st April.

Applications for all UK Doctorate programs in Clinical Psychology, including the taught Doctorate of Clinical Psychology are required to be submitted via the National Clearing House based at Leeds University www.leeds.ac.uk/chpccp. For further information please visit the web site: <https://www.plymouth.ac.uk/student-life/your-studies/doctoral-college>

13. Non-Academic Policy

13.1 Entry to Stage 2 or above

The entry requirements for stage 2 and above are higher than those required for entry onto stage zero or one. Evidence of the modules already taken may be requested. Where applicants fail to meet the enhanced requirements but meet the standard requirements for level one entry, an offer will be made.

13.2 Accreditation of Prior Learning

The achievement of formal qualifications is not the only way of identifying a student's potential. Admissions staff will assess the application 'holistically', taking into account skills, experience and abilities as well as commitment and motivation to study to establish whether the applicant has the potential to benefit from the programme and graduate successfully. Experience may include knowledge or practice gained from previous work or study, voluntary or community involvement or care responsibilities. Applications will be dealt with on their individual merits. Further information can be accessed with reference to the University Academic Regulations.

13.3 Accelerated learning

The University operates a number of accelerated learning opportunities e.g. fast-track two year degrees and summer schools. The application and selection process does not differ for these programmes, and all information is published on the University website, UCAS Entry Profiles and the University prospectus.

13.4 Deferred entry

The University welcomes applications from students wishing to defer their application to the following year at the discretion of the Admissions Tutor. On occasions, an applicant may wish to defer their clearing application this is at the discretion of the relevant Admissions Tutor.

13.5 Confirmation

Applicants, who narrowly fail to satisfy the specific academic conditions of their offer, may still be offered a place, subject to the availability of places. Applicants in the UCAS scheme are notified through UCAS Track. The University publishes advice and guidance at A-level results time through: www.plymouth.ac.uk/clearing

13.6 Adjustment

The University welcomes applications in the UCAS scheme from applicants who wish to take advantage of the UCAS Adjustment period. In accordance with the UCAS policy, applicants must have met and exceeded the conditions of their offer from a conditional firm choice. Adjustment is subject to the availability of spaces remaining on programmes at the time of confirmation and clearing, and applicants are advised to contact the University directly.

13.7 Discontinued courses

If the University has cause to discontinue a programme, applicants will be notified as soon as is practicable, and the University will offer an alternative programme of study.

The alternative programme could be a Foundation Degree within the partner college network, which will lead on to a named degree progression route.

13.8 Re-admission following withdrawal

If an applicant withdraws from a programme in one year, and wishes to re-apply, the applicant is required to use the UCAS admissions process.

13.9 Applications from progression agreements

Those applicants applying from Further Education, Sixth form, Partner colleges or Training providers where a progression agreement for their programme has been established with the University of Plymouth and meet the entry requirements for the specified programme, will be guaranteed an offer of a place. However, due to the availability of places this may not always be for the immediate year following the attainment of their award, and an offer will be made on the basis of first-come-first-served. The offer of a deferred entry place will be valid for up to three years. Applicants are advised to take notice of the application deadline of 28th November.

13.10 Assessment of tuition fees

Applicants will be assessed as eligible to pay either Home/EU or Overseas tuition fees. Applicants will be required to self-assess their residential category as part of the application process. The applicant may be asked to provide further information if the fee status is unclear. Inaccurate information may make an applicant's offer void. The University will reserve the right to identify an applicant as eligible to pay overseas tuition fee at any point in the admissions process, up to and including the point of enrolment.

Applicants are required to indicate their highest level of qualification on entry to date, in order that their application can be processed accurately, and the correct fee information assigned.

To clarify an applicant's personal situation, especially if an applicant is seeking to check their International/Overseas status, please reference UKCISA which is a service that offers advice for international students.

13.11 UK Visas and Immigration

International Students who require a Tier 4 or other visa to study in the UK:

If an applicant is made an offer of a place to study at the University of Plymouth University, once the academic requirements of the offer has been met there will be other steps involved in the admission process before we can confirm the place, if a Tier 4 or other visa is required to study in the UK.

The University as a Tier 4 sponsor is required to check that the applicant meets the university and UKVI (UK Visas & Immigration) English Language requirements, have enough time left to study as per the Tier 4 time limit, that the course that the University of Plymouth are offering applicants represents academic progression, and any other requirements as set out by UKVI at the time of application.

We will also ask that the applicant either pays a tuition fee deposit, or show acceptable evidence that the applicant is officially sponsored by a body recognised by UKVI, and can satisfy the financial and Immigration health surcharge requirements.

Before issuing a CAS (Confirmation of Acceptance for Study) The University of Plymouth will also ask that the applicant discloses to us their full study and immigration history in the UK, including any adverse situations that may mean the University cannot or should not sponsor the applicant under Tier 4.

If the applicant has met the academic conditions of their offer we will do our utmost to ensure that the applicant can take up their place here, but please be aware that due to immigration law and our duties as a Tier 4 sponsor, there may be rare occasions where the conclusion of our admission process is that we cannot offer an unconditional place, or issue you with a CAS. In these circumstances we would endeavour to explain this decision to the applicant as early as possible in the admissions process, once all relevant information has been received and duly considered.

Enrolled Students subject to Immigration Control in the UK:

Any student enrolled on a programme of study at The University of Plymouth who is subject to UK immigration control, may have their enrolment revoked if they are found to be in breach of UK immigration requirements or immigration law.

If information connected to immigration status in the UK has been falsified or withheld during the student's admission or enrolment process, information may be shared with other appropriate bodies such as UKVI, UCAS, Student Finance England / the Student Loans Company so that further action may be taken where required.

This applies whether the student has been classed as a Home or Overseas fee payer, or has any other fee status or no fees are payable as part of their studies. Where the student is in breach of UK immigration law and/or they have falsified or withheld information supplied to the University regarding their immigration status, the University reserves the right not to accept future applications from that student.

13.12 Gathered field

A 'Gathered Field' is a procedure whereby all applications are decisioned and made an offer, only once the 15 January deadline (for UCAS applications) has passed. This is not a mandatory procedure, and as such, the University does not operate in this manner. It prefers to make an offer to an applicant as soon as is practicable, and wherever possible, within 14 days of the receipt of the application

However, in certain health and education disciplines, a gathered field is used to assist with the selection process. The process that will operate is that applicants who fall well below the standard required for the course will be rejected, whilst remaining applicants will be held and interviewed and offers will be made following the 15th January deadline, to enable those candidates to be considered equally.

14. Review and monitoring

The University takes its admissions policy and its obligations very seriously, and is keen to know if any aspect falls below the standard expected. Feedback is welcomed from applicants, and the policy is regularly reviewed through the Student Number Planning Committee chaired by the Deputy Vice Chancellor (Planning & International)
