

Safeguarding statement

The University of Plymouth aims to provide a safe and supportive environment, conducive to work, learning, research and the enjoyment of a positive experience for all.

Our Safeguarding Policy document sets out how we deal with concerns of harm, abuse and radicalisation, and the type of action we may take to assess risk and provide support. University activities often include children, young people and adults at risk of harm or abuse; the safeguarding of these groups is paramount.

The Plymouth Institute's Education Research Ethics and Integrity Subcommittee (EdREISC) has approved the ethics and integrity of UPS Resource Bank activities. To enable our safeguarding responsibilities to be upheld, the UPS team will carefully monitor any materials or enquiries uploaded by children and adults in order to fulfil our obligations in relation to safeguarding and the welfare of children and adults.

Should you have any concerns about children's safeguarding and/or welfare that are raised by materials uploaded to this site, please contact Miles Opie, our Faculty and School Safeguarding Lead: +44 (0)1752 585386, miles.opie@plymouth.ac.uk
