4. Distinctive Features of the Programme and the Student Experience

The MA Fine Art offers a number of distinctive features, which are variously evident throughout the course:

- MA Fine Art provides a multi-disciplinary programme for arts practitioners to develop their skills, knowledge and understanding across the wide and discursive range of methods, techniques, media, and approaches that contribute to contemporary arts and its changing and growing contexts and audiences.
- It enables students to explore, reflect upon, propose, negotiate and establish their own artistic identity through critical engagement with ideas, concepts and traditions through group, collaborative and individual learning. Crucially, the student is at the centre of her/his learning, but brings a wealth of experiences - professional and personal - to contribute to the dynamic and supportive learning environment of the group, whilst also drawing upon the diverse range of staff expertise and research interests.
- The programme emphasises negotiation as a key strategy, and this gives the students a high level of self-direction as reflective practitioners. The process of self-evaluation of their negotiated aims and objectives places students in an active role in terms of learning and assessment. For CPD students negotiation can take the form of aims and intentions specific to their professional context needs.
- The MA Fine Art programme is distinctive in that it offers a two year Extended Full-time (EFT) mode of study (2 x 30 weeks) in line with European models for Masters provision (Bologna 2nd Cycle). Students can also study part-time (PT) over 3 years (3 x 30 weeks) which enables Continuing Professional Development (CPD). EFT students study for a minimum of 3 days per week and PT students study for a minimum of 2 days per week.

- The programme places emphasis on the students' own research interests and themes, and through the supervisory process these are aligned with the research interests and foci of staff, drawn from the Fine Art subject team.
- Students are able to negotiate the incorporation of professionally commissioned projects and residencies as well as work-based learning/placements into their MA Project, and to work with external agencies to realise their projects.
- The programme maintains international links through field trips, staff research, and staff membership of pan-European educational bodies. There are also opportunities for Erasmus exchange in the International Exchange module.

- 2) flexibility and effectiveness in the application of technical knowledge and expertise in the field of contemporary arts practice
- 3) exploratory and experimental approaches to ideas, methods, processes and material investigation

9. Admissions Criteria, including APCL, APEL and Disability Service arrangements

Qualifications: Applicants will be expected to have either of the following-

BA or BSc in a related subject or equivalent

Applicants are normally interviewed by two members of staff, with portfolio (physical or digital), containing developmental and finished work; sketchbooks; critically annotated workbooks outlining the processes of research, ideas; samples of critical writing, and a written proposal for MA study. In the case of CPD applicants the interview team would expect to discuss the applicant's intentions in relation to their professional context and their expectations for development through a mode of study.

Disability Service arrangements are as per standard University practice. Applicants can access information at:

<https://www.plymouth.ac.uk/student-life/services/student-services/disability-anddyslexia/applicants>

Overseas students, if unavailable for interview, can be selected through the production of an electronic portfolio and a skype interview, and are required to have achieved a IELTS English score of 6.5.

Applicants with Accredited Prior Learning or Accredited Prior Experiential Learning are considered on an individual basis according to the University regulations framework. We welcome applicants with APL or APEL because of the diverse experiences and contributions they can bring to the course whilst recognising that their needs may differ from standard entry students.
