

PLYMOUTH UNIVERSITY
GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS: MILITARY DUTIES

1. University Officer Training Corps:

Officers or officer cadets serving with a University Officer Training Corps (UOTC) cannot be called up into full time active military duty.

Military training events must be organised around your timetable. Extensions are not available for training events.

2. UK students: Territorial Army, Royal Navy, Royal Marines or Air Force Reserves

If you are called up for full time Army, Navy, Royal Marines or Air Force military service you should immediately talk to your Personal Tutor, Programme Leader or Faculty Registrar. They can advise you on applying for an extension to course work, a delay or a suspension of studies.

Military training events must be organised around your timetable. Extensions are not available for training events.

3. International students:

If you are called up for military service you should immediately talk to your Personal Tutor, Programme Leader, Faculty Registrar and the International Office. Where appropriate the University can suspend your studies for a temporary period.
