Do you want to become a leader in clinical research? The MClinRes covers the whole research process from initial question generation through to designing, managing and undertaking research and the dissemination and implementation of findings. Learn from a team of experts in clinical research, drawn from a wide range of disciplines including nursing, midwifery, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, optometry, dietetics and medicine as well as representatives from patient and public support groups.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Learn from, allied healthcare professionals and scientists actively involved in clinical research, with national and international reputations in their specialist areas.
- Blended learning with short study blocks supplemented by technology enhanced learning.
- Designed to help you gain future funding to further your clinical academic career.
- 10 NIHR funded places available (part time/ full time) see web page for more information.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

- Conduct clinically relevant research.
- Lead and innovate in leadership management and academic research based roles.
- Progress to doctoral study.

MODULES INCLUDE:

- Research and project design.
- Systematic review (JBI).
- Applying evidence to practice.
- Applied quantitative research methods.
- Applied qualitative research methods.

TO APPLY:

Email: pdu@plymouth.ac.uk
Tel: +44 (0) 1752 586956 or +44 (0) 1752 586726

DISCOVER MORE

www.plymouth.ac.uk/courses/postgraduate/mclinres-clinical-research

Talk to the pathway lead, Professor Jon Marsden
Tel: +44 (0)1752 587590 | Email: jonathan.marsden@plymouth.ac.uk