FOUNDATIONS IN COMMUNITY AND PRIMARY CARE WITH PLYMOUTH UNIVERSITY

HEALTH EDUCATION ENGLAND FUNDED SHORT COURSE
FUNDING
This short course is commissioned by Health Education England and you may be eligible for funding through your employer. If you work in the NHS, contact your organisation’s Educational Coordinator for guidance; and if you work in the private, independent and voluntary sector, contact your employer for advice.

HIGHLIGHTS
• Develop your knowledge of evidence-based theories that inform clinical consultations.
• Gain an understanding of how the patient experience is enhanced with integrated working.
• Learn from an expert multi-professional team, including visiting lecturers currently working in practice.
• Be fully equipped to provide safe, high-quality and patient-focused care.
• Chose to study at degree or masters level.

MODULES
Integrated community and primary care in context
Learn about partnership and integrated working for effective service provision; managing complexity including care coordination, risk assessment and safeguarding; public health and social care perspectives including health inequalities, prevention and early intervention.

Integrated community and primary care practice
Learn about holistic assessment including scope for telehealth/telecare; personalised care including managing challenging situations and motivational interviewing; and reflective practice.

Clinical skills in community and primary care
Gain the core clinical competences required to fulfil the role of the General Practice Nurse as defined by the Royal College of General Practitioners nursing standards, and in alignment with Department of Health and Health Education England initiatives.

TO APPLY
Email: pdu@plymouth.ac.uk
Tel: +44 (0) 1752 586951

DISCOVER MORE
Please contact the course lead Kim Greening
Email: kim.greening@plymouth.ac.uk
or visit: www.plymouth.ac.uk/fcpc